Beginning and Intermediate Fly Tying courses meet on the west side of Madison at the Fitchburg Community Center for ten weeks beginning 1/14/10 and ending 3/18/10. Beginning and Advanced courses meet on the east side of Madison at Patrick Marsh Middle School in Sun Prairie for ten weeks beginning 1/14/10 and ending 3/18/10. Enrollment is limited in Beginning and Intermediate classes to about 15 students each.

Beginning Fly Tying: Intended for those with little or no previous tying experience. Techniques needed as a foundation for more advanced fly tying are established, and basic but effective fly patterns are demonstrated and practiced in class. Students are expected to practice at home between classes.

Intermediate Fly Tying: Intended for those who have a solid foundation in fly tying and want to expand their tying expertise. The techniques and materials are more varied, the patterns can be more complex, and the hook sizes are usually smaller than flies of Beginning Fly Tying. Students are expected to practice at home between classes.

Advanced Fly Tying: Intended for those with considerable experience in fly tying who desire advanced instruction in techniques and/or materials. Course curriculum varies from year to year, and guest tiers often visit with expert instruction on specific techniques or patterns.

The Southern Wisconsin chapter of Trout Unlimited has taught fly tying classes for over 30 years. All classes are free, although voluntary donations to help defray costs will be graciously accepted. Experienced instructors, some of whom are accomplished masters, will instruct the classes using a combination of demonstrations and hands-on tutorials. All in-class materials will be provided, including an instructional booklet for Beginning Fly Tying. You must provide the needed tools. A list of needed tools and supplies is available at <http://www.swtu.org>.
